MEDICAL.

The greatest danger to life in the city is the cat with its clanging gong, but the silent invisible foe, the germ of disease, is stated to be largely due to the frequent expectation of diseased persons, whose drugging up with mixed with the dust and blown into the air, is inhaled by some luckless man or woman. Sanitation may minimize these perils but can never obliterate them. The essential thing is to educate every person to the knowledge that the germ can find no permanent lodgment in a healthy body. Keep the blood pure, the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition in sound health and you are practically germ proof. The disease resisting condition is obtained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and heals the lungs. Even when there is obstinate cough, bronchitis, spitting of blood and other conditions, which, if neglected, lead to consumption, the faithful use of Golden Medical Discovery will, in almost every instance, effect a cure.

I was taken sick in July last year, and was given to do any kind of work until November, when Mr. Noel W. Green, of Langley, Va., sent me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I had been coughing up small amounts of blood for about a year before I was taken down. I then called on a doctor, who said that one-half of my left lung was gone and that I would never leave my home and go to work. I wrote to you for advice. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I am now as well as ever. I have more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, free on receipt of stamps to cover expense of mailing only. Send 21 recent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 1 stamp for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

GILLIGAN'S TRIAL.

Gilligan's counsel having finished the evidence in rebuttal for the defense yesterday morning in the trial at Isle of Wight Courthouse, announced that they rested. Against their earnest protest, but with the consent of the court, the prosecution again put Miss Turner on the stand, who eloquently and with spirit denied and refuted some of the main points in Gilligan's story.

A. R. Whitehead was recalled, and gave testimony which contradicted Gilligan's statement that Isabel Turner was with him when he killed his father; that he had the arm around her waist, and she had one arm around his neck at that tragic moment. It was in regard to the tracks under the pine tree, where Gilligan said that he and Isabel were when the fatal shot was fired. Mr. Whitehead said he examined the tracks in the snow under the pine tree the next morning, and there was only one set of tracks under the tree, and that he followed them for several miles. There were other tracks nearby, where Mr. Turner fell and died, but none near the tree.

Miss Serena Isabel Turner was then escorted to the chair by her cousin and champion, Dr. W. D. Turner. She was pale and a little careworn, but nervous strain, but she decidedly pretty and very modest in her bearing.

After she had been on the stand some time, and counsel for the prosecution retired to consult, she rested her head on her hand and quietly wept. She had on a light veil and raised it only when she was called on to answer questions, and then she looked the lawyers straight in the eye and answered without hesitation.

Her father's gun was placed in evidence. She identified it at once, saying he had had it ten years, and that it was the only gun she ever shot. "I used it a great deal," she said. She could dictate fairly many of Gilligan's statements.

She denied having written letters from either Richmond or Norfolk. When asked about the threat to ruin her, which Gilligan denied, Miss Turner said: "He did threaten me. I went out to the milkhouse and he was behind it. I did not know that he was there. He said, 'Come on,' and I declined. He again said, 'Come on,' and I refused. Then he said, 'Do as you please; I've got letters that will ruin you.'"

"The last letter I wrote was in September, 1898, from Alleghany Springs. I did not write him in September, 1899, as he claims." The Alleghany letter was given to her by Gilligan and she burned it.

"That letter was given to me in the yard. He told me he had burned the letters--every one. He swore that he had."

"I never gave him a handkerchief with the letter 'S' on it. I never gave him a handkerchief of any kind."

"I did not meet him on Monday night on the porch. I did not speak to him nor see him."

"There was no note passed on Wednesday. I did not meet him on the premises by agreement on Wednesday, or at any time during the year 1899."

"I saw him about the place several times from the window and on the porch. There were but few words between us. I told him to go away and keep away."

"According to an agreement between us to burn the letters as received, I burned all of his letters, every one was destroyed. None of the letters was placed under a brick by the gate post."

Juror Branch asked her if she could remember the date of the letter which warned the recipient not to come to her window that night because her mother was sleeping in the room. The letter was read in court, and Miss Turner answered that it was written in the early summer of '98. Witness further said: "In 1899 there was no letter, no note, no written communication whatever."

Philip Mitchell was sworn. He was at Mr. Weed's and was called upon to witness the count of the loveletters which Gilligan left there tied in a package. O'Brien untied the bundle. Witness said there were thirty letters, and the envelopes counted--he was sure of the number. Witness thought there were in the package three papers, one of which was an itemized statement of an account with W. P. Wilson and Company. On cross-examination the original letters were handed to the witness by Clerk Young, and he counted the pieces again, making forty. Witness further said there may have been two or three letters in the envelopes when first counted. After some evidence from Mr. Weed and others in regard to the number of letters the Commonwealth again rested its case.

The chief interest in the case ended after a long wait in the afternoon, Miss Edmondia Bagwell went on the stand and, being questioned as to an engagement, she said to go to church with Miss Turner, she said the engagement was kept, she did not remember the reason.

Photographs taken by a Smithfield photographer were not admitted as evidence, but the court suggested the jury could go to the scene of the killing if they desired. The sheriff asked if they wanted to go, but none of the jurors expressed a wish to pay the visit. This closed the evidence in the Gilligan trial.

The instructions will be argued tomorrow. Col. Boykin, State's attorney is sick. He was scheduled to close the argument, but unless he gets strength that duty may be given to his associate, William S. Holland.

The prosecution announced that their instructions were ready, and the defense said they would have theirs in the morning. Several hours will be consumed in arguing them. It looks now as if the case will go to the jury by Saturday.

Would Not Suffer So Again for Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right.

It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.--G. H. WILSON, Liveryman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

QUESTION ANSWERED.
Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and a sop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Ernest L. Allen, Claude M. Lennon, Warfield & Hall, Charles G. Lennon, W. F. Creighton & Co., and Richard Gibson.

Unless food is digested quickly it will ferment and irritate the stomach. A few each meal takes a teaspoonful of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and will allow you to eat all you need of what you like. It never fails to cure the worst cases of dyspepsia. It is pleasant to take.
